The estimates for army and navy expenses for the next fiscal year are $200,000,000. Expansion of the McKinley brand is a pretty expensive luxury.

An Illinois undertaker who was short on hearses, stole one. His business was dull and he thought a nice outfit of that kind might encourage the community to patronize him.

The most successful jumper recently reported is Wm. Frederick, of Ohio, who, while on his way to the penitentiary as a convict, jumped from a car window while the train was bowling along at 50 miles an hour and made his escape.

Lord Chamberlain in a recent speech said that Great Britain's foreign policy was "to remain on friendly terms with every great country in Europe, but on something more than friendly terms with the United States." A silent partnership, so to speak.

There are numerous tramps and several varieties; men tramps, dog tramps and last a cat tramp, in Pennsylvania, which rides from town town on car trucks. Several efforts have been made to prevail on it to give up tramping and settle down, but all have failed.

The latest "infant" industry is a glass marble manufactory, just established at Steubenville, Ohio, which will employ 1,200 persons and make 150,000 marbles daily—of seven sizes. Heretofore the American boy has had to depend on Germany for his glass marbles.

Senator Frye of Maine has been out on an exploring expedition and reports that he couldn't find any Democratic party, and that there isn't any such thing. He should inquire of Mark Hanna why he is straining his linen so and passing the hat around for that $30,000,000.

A unique case [illegible] for trial in the Superior Court, Chester Co., Pa. Several years ago a Prof. Shortledge killed his wife and was acquitted on the plea of insanity. Now he is suing an insurance company for $70,23.11 life insurance on his wife. There is but one similar case on record, and that was in Missouri, but the neighbors brought the court proceedings to a sudden stop by taking the man out and hanging him.

Brunswick Superior Court.

The Fall term of Brunswick Superior Court, Judge Geo. H. Brown presiding, will convene at Southport Monday morning. The civil and criminal dockets are smaller than usual and a short term is predicted. The only case of considerable importance is the suit of F. M. Moore against the Navassa Guano Company for $30,000 alleged damages to his rice farm, occasioned by acid substances that drifted through the air from the guano factory to his plantation, which he claims ruined his crop of rice last year. On Monday night Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy will speak in the Court House.

WADDELL ENDORSED.

Enthusiastic Mass Meeting of New Hanover County Democrats Last Evening.

THE RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

Meeting Later Resolved Itself Into Waddell Democratic Club and Elected Officers—Ward and Township Committees Appointed.

A largely attended mass meeting of citizens at the Court House last night enthusiastically and with unanimity endorsed the candidacy of Hon. Alfred M. Waddell for the United States Senate and after the adoption of resolutions embodying the above sentiment, the assembly resolved itself into a Waddell Democratic Club with a very large membership.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. C. W. Yates, who paid a beautiful tribute to Col. Waddell and called Mr. J. C. Stevenson to the rostrum as permanent chairman. Mr. Stevenson upon assuming the position also spoke of the value of Col. Waddell as a man and statesmen and congratulated those present upon the occasion of the demonstration. He said there were sufficient reasons why the section of North Carolina which included the metropolis of the State should be allowed some consideration in the distribution of honors and closed with a reference to the achievements of the Waddells and Ashes in the past and the bravery displayed by a band of patriots under the leadership of these men in making the first open revolt to the iniquitous purpose of England to fasten upon the people an unjust stamp tax in 1765. Coming to more recent history he spoke of Col. Waddell himself; his part in Wilmington's recent revolution; his scholarly attainments; his unsullied record in Congress; his education, refinement, etc., all of which were shown eminently to fit him for the high office to which he aspires.

Representatives of the press were requested to act as secretaries upon motion of Geo. H. Howell, Esq., and upon the suggestion of Col. F. W. Kerchner, the chairman appointed Capt. T. D. Meares, Capt. A. L. DeRosset and Ed S. Battle, Esq., a committee to draft resolutions expressive of the sentiments of the meeting.

While the committee was preparing the resolutions there were calls for Brooke G. Empie, Esq., and he entertained those present with an exceedingly humorous speech, which he concluded with a patriotic and beautiful reference to the life and character of Col. Waddell, whom he warmly commended for the U. S. Senate.

The committee through Capt. T. D. Meares reported the following, which, upon motion of Mr. J. Hal Boatwright and a second by acclaim, was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The New Hanover Democratic County Convention has heretofore endorsed the candidacy of Alfred M. Waddell for the United States Senate, and such endorsement has met with the approval of the Democratic voters of New Hanover; and whereas, Alfred M. Waddell has performed his every duty faithfully—as a soldier in the Confederate army, as a member of Congress from this district, and as a prominent citizen; and whereas we believe him to be eminently fitted by his character, ability and experience to represent this State in the United States Senate; and whereas, without wishing to detract from the merits or claims of other candidates, we believe that the glorious success of 1900 was made possible by the action of the New Hanover Democracy in '98, in which action he took a prominent part; therefore, be it resolved, that we, Democrats of New Hanover county, in mass meeting assembled, do ratify the action of the New Hanover County Democratic Convention in endorsing Col. Alfred M. Waddell for the United States Senate, and do pledge our earnest support to him in the primaries in November.

Capt. Meares, in presenting the resolutions, spoke warmly of Col. Waddell's candidacy as did also George Rountree, Esq., member of the House from New Hanover. He appealed to the people to see that factional lines were eliminated and spoke of the unanimity of the people in this instance. Further remarks were made by Col. Walker Taylor, Mr. L. B. Sasser, Capt. A. L. DeRosset, Mr. Ed. S. Battle and ex-Mayor S. H. Fishblate.

Mr. Martin O'Brien closed with the most enthusiastic speech of the evening and moved that the meeting resolve itself into a "Waddell Democratic Club," which suggestion was carried out in election of Mr. J. C. Stevenson, chairman, and Ed. S. Battle, Esq., and Capt. A. L. DeRosset, secretaries. The chairman was empowered to appoint as soon as possible a committee of three from each ward and township in the county to begin an active canvass at once in Col. Waddell's interest.

At the opening of the meeting, excellent music was furnished by the Second Regiment Band. President Stevenson will announce the committees from the various wards and townships to day and will also call a meeting of the same to be held at the earliest practicable movement.

New Uniforms.

New uniforms for members of Col. Walker Taylor's Boys' Brigade have arrived and they will be distributed next Monday. If weather conditions are favorable, the Brigade will give a dress parade that night on the corner of Front and Market streets.

City subscribers are earnestly requested to report promptly at the STAR office every failure of the carriers to deliver their papers. In all such cases steps will be taken to insure prompt and regular delivery.

"RICHARD THE LION HEARTED."

Successfully Presented by Robt. Downing and Company Last Night.

Wilmington theatre-goers were treated to a delightful entertainment last night at the Opera House by Robt. Downing and his excellent company in a drama of considerable force and strength, entitled "Richard the Lion Hearted."

The play deals with stirring events of knighthood and runs smoothly along in a generous and chivalrous manner peculiar to those times when gallantry and grace were in flower. Mr. Robt. Downing carried the title role with ease and skill and displayed marked ability in taking advantage of the many possibilities the play affords for dramatic effort. Alberta Converse, as Berengaria, a French princess, showed wonderful capabilities as an actress and portrayed the character in a truly histrionic manner, which was all the more enjoyable because of the natural grace and refinement that characterized her acting. Mr. A. W. Purcell, as a jolly friar, contributed much to the pleasure of the audience.

The play was good, acting excellent, supporting company strong and general action and effect of the story very pleasing and especially refreshing after the light farce dramas and minstrels that have appeared here this season.

JARVIS WITHDRAWS.

Announces to People of the State His Retirement from Senatorial Race.

A LETTER TO THE PRESS.

In Which He Says That a Large Number of His Supporters Had Already Committed Themselves Before His Announcement.

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C., October 12.—As was predicted in the STAR on last Thursday morning, ex-Gov. Thomas J. Jarvis has withdrawn from the race for United States Senator. He to-day gave to the press for publication the following letter:

To the Editor: When I announced my candidacy for a seat in the United States Senate I thought it likely that a majority of the Democratic voters might desire me to be their candidate to represent the people of North Carolina in that great body. I have since learned that many friends throughout the State who might under other circumstances have supported me, have committed themselves to other gentlemen. Now, it is apparent to me that a large number of Democratic voters are looking elsewhere for their candidate, and I have no disposition to question the wisdom of their course or to contend against it. Under existing conditions it would not be reasonable in me to ask further support from friends to whom I am already so largely indebted for their past services, and I, therefore, beg the use of your columns to announce to the public that I am no longer a candidate. This leaves me absolutely free to work for party success in November. In thus eliminating my personal interest, I wish it distinctly understood, that I do not abate one jot or tittle of my deep interest in the success of the Democratic party. The Democracy of North Carolina ought to give Bryan and Stevenson a rousing majority and elect a solid Democratic delegation to the House of Representatives, and it can be done if every Democrat will do his duty. I shall go forward to do mine, and I appeal to every Democrat to be at his post of duty until the closing of the polls. The election of a Democrat as Senator is already assured now let us send nine Democrats to the House to co operate with him.

THOS. J. JARVIS.
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 12th, 1900.

The Markets.

The further decline in cotton on the Wilmington market to figures based on 9¼ cents for middling, appears from the commercial columns of the STAR this morning. The receipts at Wilmington for the week ending yesterday were 48,981 bales against 23,063 on the corresponding week last year. The receipts for 1900 since September 1st, at this port have been 120,905 bales as compared with 83,227 bales during the same period last season.

The receipt of naval stores for the week ending yesterday showed a slight falling off from those of the same week last year, which is probably due to the rush with transportation companies in handling large shipments of cotton.

Another New Coach.

Another handsome vestibule day coach has been turned out of the A. C. L. shops here and was sent out yesterday morning. It will be put on between New York and Florida on the main line. Work on several other similar coaches is progressing nicely.

Funeral this (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock, from the residence on Campbell street, between Third and Fourth; thence to Oakdale cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM.

Death took from our midst ESTELLE, the beloved wife of Chas. E. Collins. In her death a husband loses a devoted wife, a child its mother. She was a woman of the highest type of Christian character, the embodiment of all that was pure and good. She was ever ready to help those in distress, never for a minute thinking of self. Her spirit took its flight on the afternoon of October 12th, after a short sickness of only a few days, and her life's end was a surprise and shock to all, as she seemed to be fast improving. Our home is now vacant; wife and mother has left a broken hearted husband and a little babe to bemoan her death. We rejoice to know that, although she is gone from us and we can no more see her here, yet in that crowning day we shall meet her again never to be separated. Her life was spotless and pure and her memory will be cherished by her loved ones at home and her many, many friends.

HUSBAND.

DEATH OF MRS. C. E. COLLINS.

She Passed Away Yesterday Afternoon About 3 O'clock.

Friends in the city will deeply sympathise with Mr. Charles E. Collins in the death of his wife, which occurred shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the family home, No. 213 Market street, after an illness of only a few days. Mrs. Collins was a daughter of Mr. W. L. and Mrs. C. J. Wilkins, of Onslow county, and was in the 32d year of her age. She is survived, besides a sorrowing husband, by a brother, Mr. J. L. Wilkins, and a sister, Miss Hattie P. Wilkins, both of Onslow county. She also leaves an infant three weeks old.

The remains will be taken on the Newbern train this afternoon to Jacksonville, N. C., near which place, in the family burying ground, the interment will take place.

It is a strange coincidence, but each of three wives, which Mr. Collins survives, have died at the age of 32 years.

Taylor's Millinery Opening.

The opening of the new Fall and Winter styles in millinery at Taylor's Bazaar on Market street during the past ten days has been attended by much success and hundreds of ladies have feasted their eyes upon the many beautiful things there displayed. A competent milliner from the North has been engaged for the coming season and while the opening will not continue to day, it is advised that the ladies call and see what Fashion has in store for them.

TRUSTS VS. YOUNG MEN.

Whether trusts be called by the name of "trusts," "combinations of capital," or by any other name, the kind of trusts or combinations that the American people object to and which are issues in our politics are open to many objections, every one of which has more or less force. It is claimed by their apologists and defenders that whatever may be said of them, the good they do more than offsets the harm. Admitting for the sake of argument that they may do some good, that they may largely assist in the promotion of great enterprises and in the development of the latent resources of our country, that they may by their energy and efficient management add largely to the bulk of our annual exports and thus bring much money into the country, still they do all that at a cost too high and at a cost too that involves more than dollars and cents.

The inevitable result of the combine system which absorbs the smaller industries into one or more great ones will be the centralizing of the manufacturing industries into the grasp and control of the few, and the result of this will be to make the many dependent upon the few, the few to eventually become masters, the many their submissive, willing or unwilling slaves, made so by their utter dependence.

One of the characteristics of our country has been the individuality of the man, and the superiority of the man to the dollar, not because the dollar was not estimated at its full value, but because the man was. It was one of our proudest boasts that the avenues to promotion and eminence were open to perseverance and merit, and that no position was beyond the reach of him who had the ability and the fitness to fill it. We are speaking here of industrial, not political, professional or other callings. It was the hope and the prospect held out to the young man when he entered the industrial walks that by attention to business and determination to excel he might climb and some day be at the top and this inspired him with the resolution to presevere and to master his calling, and that's why so many of the master minds in our great industries to-day have arisen from the shop of the apprentice where the boy began at the bottom.

It was the small (comparatively speaking) industrial establishments that trained and fitted the men who are conducting the colossal industries. They were so to speak it, the training schools that taught and turned out skilled men. Of course, with the absorbing of the smaller establishments by the larger ones the training school will disappear and the great establishments themselves will become the training schools, but training schools for themselves only for the comparatively small number of men they will have need of. One of the principal reasons given for the consolidation of manufacturing establishments is that thus much labor may be dispensed with and the business centralized at one point instead of being distributed among numerous points. Then the young man who desires to devote himself to some manufacturing business, instead of looking for and finding employment in or near his own town, must seek the industrial center and take his chances of finding employment there, and if he succeeds must plod patiently along hoping for the promotion that may never come.

Under the previous order, before the trust era began, if he was ambitious, thrifty and deserving and thought that he could do better as his own master than as an employe of others he might start in business for himself and by industry, energy and perseverance become in time the proprietor of a large establishment. As a rule, before the day of trusts, that's the way that most of our manufacturing enterprises started and grew. There was a stimulus then to industry, perseverance, and the desire to become skilful, thorough and efficient, because the star of hope was before the young man and there was something to spur and stimulate him to cheerful effort. As a workman he came into frequent contact with his employer, who did not feel so much above him, for he, too, might have been an employed workman who worked his way up; the relations were pleasant and to some extent social. Without presuming, the employed man felt himself the equal of his employer and if the employed was respectable and deserving the employer recognized the equality and treated his workman accordingly. There was in the labor system a social democracy which elevated the workman without degrading the man for whom he worked.

Not so under the new order, with the trust system. In that the few rule, the few possessed of much wealth, and but few of these few ever begrimed their hands or soiled their linen with manual labor. Arrogant with wealth they put themselves above the man who toils for daily wages and the two rarely ever come into business much less social contact. The lines are drawn and neither crosses the line; one will not: the other cannot. The stronger the trust system grows the stronger the lines will become. Such a system should not be encouraged in this country, whose pride is or should be in its men, who are and should be something more than mere machines.

"SUPPOSING" TOO MUCH.

A good deal of the Republican writing against the Democratic position on the Philippine question is based on the "suppose" hypothesis, a very thin sort of argument, to say the least. The following is a sample, from the New York Tribune:

"If I am elected," says Mr. Bryan, "I shall convene Congress in extraordinary session and recommend an immediate declaration of the Nation's purpose, first, to establish a stable form of government in the Philippines."

Well, suppose Congress adopts the recommendation and makes the declaration, and then Aguinaldo plays his friend Bryan false, just as he played Spain false, and says: "I don't want your stable form of government. I've got a form of government of my own which, for purposes of loot and headchopping, suits me a great deal better." What then? Would Mr. Bryan let the solemn declaration which he had summoned Congress together to make be thus annulled and flouted at the word of a bandit chief? Or would he persist in enforcing the declaration of policy by "establishing a stable form of goverament in the Philippines?"

This is all based on very unwarranted suppositions, for there is not the shadow of foundation for supposing that Aguinaldo would say anything like what the Tribune smart man here hypothetically puts into his mouth. On the contrary, we know, on the authority of a number of prominent Filipinos, including Sexto Lopez, who recently arrived in this country, that the Filipinos who are fighting for independence would be satisfied with the assurance that they were ultimately to have their independence and that we propose to deal with them as we have declared we intend to deal with the Cubans.

In Boston a few days ago he was interviewed by a representative of the New York Sun, who, among other questions, asked him, "Why do the Filipinos keep on fighting?" to which he replied:

"In order to maintain our independence. If the American government will make a declaration of policy looking toward our independence, similar to that in reference to Cuba, the fighting will cease."

Here we have assurances from prominent reliable Filipinos, which ought to carry more weight than Tribune suppositions.

MEIKLEJOHN SQUELCHED.

Several days ago Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn concluded he would set Bryan right, and correct him as to the assertion that under the treaty with the Sultan of Sulu polygamy and slavery were recognized. He therefore wrote Mr. Bryan a letter, which he also gave to the press, quoting an extract from instructions sent by the President to General Otis two months after the treaty had been made. It is somewhat remarkable that these instructions were not sent until two months after when there was cable communication with General Otis and the contents of that treaty were fully known at Washington when the treaty was signed. Isn't it quite probable that the instructions were the result of the strong popular condemnation of the polygamy and slavery features of the treaty? Mr. Meiklejohn does not make any reference to polygamy from which it may be inferred, possibly, that polygamy over there may be all right. Mr. Bryan reciprocated the attention of Mr. Meiklejohn, with the following reply:

"I am in receipt of your favor of the 6th in regard to the Sulu Treaty. It is true that the President two months after the signing of the treaty sent to General Otis the instructions which you quote. You will note that the treaty of agreement as the President describes it, was confirmed and approved subject the action of Congress, and the only exception that he made was that in regard to article 10 relating to slavery. You can but know, however, that since the President sent those instructions, the Republican party, with the approval of the Administration has adopted the theory that the Constitution does not follow the flag and, therefore, the 13th amendment does not interfere with slavery in the Sulu archipelago.

"The Porto Rican law asserts the doctrine that the people of Porto Rico are beyond the protection of the Constitution and can be governed by the arbitrary and unrestrained power of the President and Congress. If the Constitution itself cannot reach the West Indies, how can the 13th ameadment find its way across the Pacific into Asia? The President does not repudiate article 13, which reads as follows:

"'The United States shall give full protection to the Sultan and his subjects if any foreign nation should attempt to impose upon them.'

"In view of the fact that the President, in his letter of acceptance, declares it dangerous for us to agree to protect a Christian republic, in the Philippine Islands, would it not be wise for him to withdraw the agreement to protect a Mohammedan Island? The agreement does not repudiate article 14, which reads as follows:

"'The United States will not sell the island of Sulu or any other island of the Sulu archipelago to any foreign nation without the consent of the Sultan of Sulu.'

"If we buy all the Philippine Islands from Spain without the consent of the inhabitants, is it fair that we should agree not to sell any of the Sulu Islands without the consent of the Sultan. In other words is it more important that a Sultan's wishes should be considered than that the interests of the rest of the people should be regarded.

"Very respectfully, yours,
"W. J. BRYAN."

ROOSEVELT AUTHOR VS. ROOSEVELT CANDIDATE.

Theodore Roosevelt is now in the forefront of advanced imperialists and denounces as weaklings and cowards all who do not agree with him and his party on the imperialistic policy. But Teddy did'nt always think this way. As an author writing his honest sentiments, and with no offer in view, and no party feeling to sustain he thought quite the reverse. Less than five years ago he published his "life of Benton," from which the New York World makes the following extracts:

The man of the West stood where he was because he was a conqueror; he had wrested his land by force from its rightful Indian lords; he fully intended to repeat the same feat as soon as he should reach the Spanish lands lying to the west and southwest; he would have done so in the case of French Louisiana; if it had not been that the latter was purchased and was thus saved from being taken by force of arms. This belligerent or more properly speaking, piratical way of looking at neighboring territory, was very characteristic of the West and was at the root of the doctrine of "manifest destiny."

Roosevelt (page 40) defines McKinley's "Duty and Destiny," known in Benton's time as "manifest destiny," as a foreordination to "swallow up the land of all adjoining nations who were too weak to withstand us—a theory that forthwith obtained immense popularity with all statesmen of easy international morality."

No filibuster of our times has shown a more "easy international morality" or has taken more naturally to the "piratical way" looking at foreign territory than has Roosevelt himself. But writing in 1895 he was able to draw this clear and everlasting distinction between the peaceable expansion of American ideas and institutions over contiguous, sparsely settled territory, and the forcible conquest and military rule of a densely populated and forever unassailable "Malay pandemonium" 6,000 miles away. This is his statement of Benton's doctrine:

"Of course no one would wish to see these or any other settled communities now added to our domain by force; we want no unwilling citizens to enter our Union; the time to have taken the lands was before settlers came into them. European nations war for the possession of thickly settled districts, which, if conquered, will for centuries remai alien and hostile to the conquerors; we, wiser in our generation, have seized the waste solitudes that lay near us, the limitless forests and never-ending plains and the valleys of the great, lonely rivers, and have thrust our own sons into them to take possession; and a score of years after each conquest we see the conquered land teeming with a people that is one with ourselves."

Roosevelt, politician and candidate would find it very embarrassing to answer Roosevelt, author; but he is not the only one for McKinley, Hanna, Hoar, ex-Senator Edmunds and other defenders of the present policy of grab, are all antagonizing former declarations.

PITY AND BEAUTY

The most beautiful thing, in the world, is the baby, all dimples and joy. The most pitiful thing is that same baby, thin and in pain.

The dimples and joy have gone, and left hollows and fear. It is fat that is gone; gone with it, comfort and color and curve; all but pity and love.

The little one gets no fat from her food: has had none for weeks: she is living on what she had stored in that plump little body of hers. She is starving for fat; it is death; be quick!

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil is the fat she can take. It will save her.

We'll send you a little to try if you like.

STIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Rockingham Anglo-Saxon: Mr. Nelson W. Gibson died at his home about a mile and a half from Gibson last Saturday morning from a stroke of paralysis received a few days previous.

— Weldon Leader: Mr. Tillman Picot, of Littleton, tells us that a pack of wolves are playing havoc with the sheep in that section. He says several have been killed, and that he has several young ones that he captured.

— Sanford Express: An additional seventy-five new rooms will be built to Piney Woods Inn, Southern Pines, this fall. They expect the hotel to be crowded the coming season.

— Immense quantities of cabbage are being shipped from Mt. Airy over the Southern Railway to this place and to other points south of here. Mountain apples are also on the market. The people who live in the mountains raise appies and cabbage at a good profit. They are hauled to Mt. Airy by wagon.

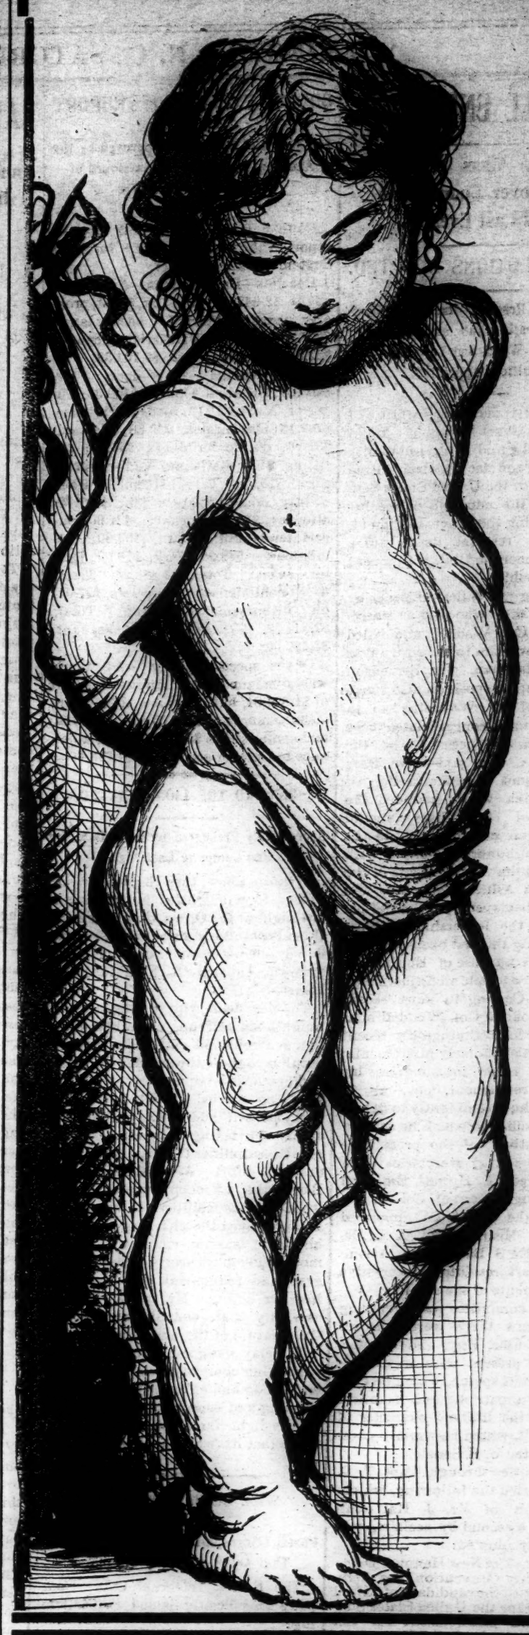
— Winston Sentinel: Parties who have been attending the Federal Court in Greensboro say that an old man from Wilkes county made an effort to shoot District Attorney Holt in the court room Saturday of last week. It appears that the old man's son had been tried and convicted of blockading. Besides imposing a heavy fine, Judge Boyd sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary. The boy was under bond and was standing in the court house door when the sentence was pronounced. He heard his "doom" and immediately skipped to "parts unknown" to the court officials. This is said to have "riled" the father of the boy, who blamed District Attorney Holton for convicting the son. The father went to his boarding place, got his big pistol, came back to the court house and said: "Show me that man Holton; I want to kill him." It is claimed that the old man would have shot had not some friends grabbed him.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— Theodore Roosevelt attempts to justify McKinley's treatment of the Filipinos by saying Hayes treated the Sioux and Nez Perce Indians a great deal worse. As an argument against the Democratic party this is quite the most original of the campaign. Mr. Roosevelt's argument, as we gather it, is that every time a Republican has to put up with a bought or stolen Presidency he gets even by making war on a helpless people; to avoid this they should be honestly elected.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, Dem.

— Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn in a letter to Mr. Bryan quotes from the President's confirmation and approval of Gen. Bates's agreement with the Sultan of Sulu a "reservation" as to the consent given in that treaty to the continued existence of slavery in that satrap's dominion. There is a mere conscience-salving quibble. The agreement was made on Aug. 20, 1899, and for more than a year the Sultan of Sulu has continued to hold slaves and to keep his harem, and has been paid for the support of the latter his regular monthly allowance from Mr. McKinley.—New York World, Dem.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND



Makes You
Grow Strong
Builds Nerve and Muscle; Makes the Blood Rich.

When you are tired out and sick take Paine's Celery Compound. It cures and makes you grow strong and robust.

F. L. SKILLIN, West Somerville, Mass., writes:

"We always use Paine's Celery Compound and give it to the children when they are run down or have any kind of nervous trouble. It builds them up, regulates the bowels, gives an appetite, and makes them strong. I am now giving it to our little boy, five years old, and it is doing him much good."

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—A sharp break occurred in the price of cotton to-day, following a disappointment in the English cables. The local market opened at a decline of twelve and sixteen points. A partial rally at Liverpool caused a temporary upward movement after the first call here, but again the situation became unsettled under a renewed pressure of long cotton, with the bear contingent showing increasing courage and selling with a liberal hand until the net decline reached thirty-five points as compared with the closing figures of the previous day. The weakness was increased by liberal port and interior receipts. The fact that frost held off in the cotton belt added to the disposition to sell, and shorts were about the only buyers until the extent of the decline attracted a little more demand on the investment business, and some on the reaction theory. There was no particular amount of confidence manifested on either side of the account and in the afternoon business was scant and of a strictly local character with the market finally steady at a net decline of sixteen to thirty-five points. According to private cables the English decline was due to Neil's circular.

Cold Steel or Death.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvelous power of Electric Bitters to cure Stomach and Liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c. at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store. †

A LUNATIC'S IMITATION.

It Lacked Finish and Got Himself and a Thief Into Trouble.

A Paris correspondent tells an interesting story of how a shop thief was captured recently at the Bon Marche in circumstances that in all probability are unique. One of the private detectives in the pay of the establishment noticed a man who, with the most barefaced effrontery, was appropriating articles of every description. The individual indeed seemed to make little or no attempt to keep his operations secret. He simply walked from counter to counter and filled his pockets with whatever attracted his fancy.

In spite of the strangeness of the man's proceedings there was nothing to be done but to have him arrested, and he was given into custody. His indignation was extreme. He protested that it was most unjust that he should be interfered with in this way when other people who were behaving in exactly the same manner were left unmolested, and he pointed to a stout gentleman of most respectable appearance who he asserted had been laying his hands on all sorts of goods without resorting to the formality of paying for them.

The policeman to whom he had been given in charge had been accustomed to listening to unconvincing explanations and took his prisoner to the station. A few minutes later the stout gentleman, also in the care of a policeman, arrived at the same destination. The detective, whose curiosity had been aroused, had watched the personage and had found it to be true that he was perpetrating theft after theft with the utmost dexterity.

After a short investigation he was recognized to be an expert and notorious shoplifter, whereas the prisoner first arrested proved to be a lunatic but recently discharged from an asylum, whose mania took the form of imitating any person who might happen to strike him. The professional thief was beside himself with rage at what he described as the bad luck of getting into trouble through the vagaries of a madman.

GLASS BULB BOMBS.

Scared the Man Who Used Them, but Vanquished the Burglar.

"Of all the outlandish weapons ever employed in a fight," said a business man of the south side, "I think I brought the most fantastic on record into play one night last week. My family is away on a visit at present, and I am keeping bachelor hall out at the house. On the night to which I refer I was aroused at about 3 a. m. by a noise somewhere in the region of the dining room, and, thinking I had shut up the dog there, I jumped up very foolishly and came down stairs in my nightclothes without so much as a pocketknife.

"When I opened the dining room door, I was startled to see a big, rough looking man bending over the sideboard at the far end of the room, and after we had stood there en tableau for a moment the fellow made a rush at me. I leaped back into the hall and glared around for a weapon. On a table near by were a dozen incandescent light bulbs, which I had brought home to replace some that had burned out, and purely by instinct I grabbed one of them and threw it at the burglar. It hit the door casing close to his head and, to my amazement, exploded with a noise like a young lyddite shell.

"I suppose it was a still greater surprise to the other fellow, for he let out a yell and broke for the rear, followed by a rapid fire bombardment of 16 candle power incandescents, which I continued to chuck at him as long as he remained in range. They smashed against the furniture with a series of crashes that alarmed the whole neighborhood, and I have been gathering up fragments of broken glass ever since.

"The burglar must have thought I was chasing him with hand grenades. It was the first time I ever knew incandescents made such a row when they broke. An electrician tells me it is caused by the air rushing into the vacuum."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

His Useless Half Dime.

"It isn't safe to start out without a pocketful of pennies any more," remarked a member of the house the other day. "Yet I can remember that when I came down into this section of the country in army blue in 1863 a 5 cent piece was very small potatoes. We were camped awhile out there in Virginia, and my headquarters were in the big plantation home. A son of the house and myself became good friends, although he was 5 and I nearly 35. One day in lieu of the candy which I had forgotten to bring him from the nearby town I gave him a silver half dime. I had forgotten all about the incident, when some two weeks later he came into my room and, opening his hand, held out to me on his little pink palm the silver piece I had given him. 'Heah, Mr. Captain, you can have it back,' he said plaintively. 'It won't buy nuffin.'"—Washington Star.

Ruskin's Generosity.

The late John Ruskin gave away a great deal of money during his life. Many years his annual income from his pen alone was $30,000, but he lived on less than a tenth of that amount. Indeed, he used to say that a gentleman ought to be able to live on $5 a day. If he could not, he deserved speedily to die.

A Way Out of It.

"A pretty lot of children you are for a minister to have!" exclaimed a West Side pastor whose children were misbehaving at the dinner table.

"Then why don't you change your business, papa?" asked 4-year-old Nellie.—Chicago News.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from Pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of Consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c. and $100. Trial bottles 10c. at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREW

Officers of the Convention Installed—Detroit Selected as the Next Place of Meeting.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RICHMOND, VA., October 12.—The Brotherhood of St. Andrew in the United States will hold its next annual convention in Detroit in mid-July, unless the executive council of the body should find it better that the national assembly should be held in some other city. The question was brought up during the session of the brotherhood to-day, Philadelphia and Detroit being the competitors for the honor of entertaining the convention.

The convention recommended that the next meeting be held in Detroit, it being developed during the discussion that better results would probably accrue from a convention in Detroit, where the brotherhood is not strong, than in Philadelphia, where it has reached a highly successful condition.

About four hundred persons were in attendance upon to-day's session of the convention. Reports were submitted on the junior department, Bible class lessons, work in the army, and the rule of the service. Considerable interest was shown in the last named report, which recommended that the re statement of the rule of service be not pressed at this time. This report was adopted.

The officers of the convention were installed to-day. They are as follows:

President—William C. Sturgis, of Christ Church, New Haven, Conn.

Vice Presidents—R. A. Robinson, of St. Andrew's Church, Louisville; Charles S. Shoemaker, of Trinity Church, Pittsburg, Pa.; and B. F. Finney, of Christ Church, Savannah, Ga.

Secretary—Duff. Green Maynard, of St. George's Church, New York.

Assistant Secretary—E. L. McDonald, of St. Andrew's Church, Louisville, and J. C. Wagner, of the Church of the Nativity, of Philadelphia.

A SPLENDID BATTLESHIP.

Official Report of the Trial Trip of the Wisconsin.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The official report of the trial trip of the battleship Wisconsin off Lower California is contained in the following brief telegram received by Secretary Long from Admiral Kautz, commanding the Pacific station at Santa Barbara: "Wisconsin completed satisfactory official trip, making 17.9 knots, subject to tidal corrections."

The secretary also received this morning the following telegram from I. M. Scott, president of the Union Iron Works, which constructed the battleship: "The Wisconsin presents her record, 18.54 maximum; average for thirty-two knots, 17.9; average during trial, 17.35, subject to corrections. Not a hitch. A splendid battleship. We congratulate you."

Secretary Long replied at once to Mr. Scott as follows: "Telegram received. Congratulations reciprocated."

STRIKING MINERS IN CONVENTION.

For the Purpose of Considering the Advance in Wages Offered by Operators.

NO ACTION ON PROPOSITION.

The Sessions Devoted to Organizing and Speeches by Delegates—Other Concessions Will Be Demanded. No Settlement Likely.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SCRANTON, PA., Oct 12.—Eight hundred and fifty-seven miners, who hold in their hands power to end or continue the anthracite coal miners' strike, which has been in progress for more than three weeks, met in convention here to-day for the purpose of considering the ten per cent. net advance in the wages offered by the operators, and adjourned until to-morrow without taking any action on their employers' proposition. Both of to-day's sessions were devoted to organizing the convention and to speeches by many of the delegates on the mine owners' concession.

It was not expected that anything would be done to-day outside of a general exchange of views. The convention, after it was permanently organized went into secret session, but it was learned from authoraitive sources, that nothiug of a definite nature was suggested which would lead to a solution of what is to the miners a knotty problem. From the trend of the remarks of the delegates it was gathered that the ten per cent. proposition as it now stands, has very little chance of being accepted. The delegates seemed, it was learned, to be almost unanimous that the operators should first yield concessions on the before the increase is accepted by the mine workers. Great stress was laid on the necessity of abolishing the sliding scale and substituting therefor a tonnage basis on which to fix the rate of wages. The proposition of having the operators guarantee a fixed time for paying the advance was also thoroughly discussed, while not a few delegates said they would be satisfied with nothing but a more liberal increase in wages.

The mode of procedure is a matter which is now occupying the attention of the labor leaders. In case the convention comes to a definite understanding of some proposition, the question has been asked how the operators will be advised, in view of the fact that the latter have repeatedly said they would not recognize the Union. President Mitchell will not discurs that phase of the question and none of the other labor leaders will venture an opinion.

No Settlement Expected.

That the present convention will not come to a definite conclusion is the general belief to-night. It is the opinion of several of the labor leaders that the convention as at present constituted is a little unwieldly. There was a movement on foot to-day having for its object the submission of the various propositions as they are suggested by the delegates to a committee appointed by the convention for consideration, this committee to report to either this or a second convention. This movement, however, did not gain much of a start. Some of the delegates think that the whole subject should be left in the hands of the national officers, as hinted at by President Mitchell in his brief remarks just before the convention went into secret session. Mr. Mitchell is very popular among the miners, as was shown by the enthusiasm displayed as he delivered his opening address.

President Mitchell's Address.

President Mitchell called the convention to order at 10.25 o'clock and addressed the delegates, saying:

"For the first time in many years the operators have recognized your demands for better conditions of employment, and have offered an advance of ten per cent. in your wages. I am well aware that this advance is not satisfactory to you. You have felt, and with justice, that a definite period of time should be named during which this advance should remain in force. Your experience where wages are based on a sliding scale has been so unsatisfactory to you that you believe that the sliding scale method of determining wages should be abolished; you also believe that the laws of Pennsylvania should be obeyed by the coal company, and wages be paid twice a month, you reserving the right of spending your earnings wherever you choose. Whether it is better at this time to insist upon a compliance with all your demands is a question which you, who are most interested, are called upon to decide. Personally I have hoped that we should be able at some time to establish the same method of adjusting wage differences as now exists in the bituminous coal regions, where employes and miners' delegates meet in joint inter-state convention and like prudent, sensible business men, mutually agree upon a scale of wages which remain in force for one year."

Permanent Organization

was effected by the election of President Mitchell as chairman and John T. Dempsey as secretary.

Chairman Mitchell's first act was to read a telegram from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, as follows:

"The cause of the miners is the cause of humanity. Whatever the decision reached regarding the operators" offer, the future must be brighter, better, and more just for the miners, their wives and children, and humanity will be the gainer. Kindly convey to the assembled delegates the sincerest sympathy and co-operation of every union member and officer of the American Federation of Labor. We all pray and work for your success."

The convention went into secret session and at its close adjourned to 9 o'clock to-morrow.

CAPTURED AT TIEN TSIN.

Some $275,000 in Silver Taken by American Marines.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—It is understood that the final disposition of the silver, some $275,000 in amount, taken by the American marines at the capture of Tien Twin, may be determined by Congress. In the meantime the silver is being treated as a trust fund, of which the government is the custodian, until a determination is reached as to its rightful disposition.

MOVEMENTS OF THE ALLIES IN CHINA.

Viceroys Oppose Advance of Germans Believed No Punishment Will Be Inflicted on Chinese Officials.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—A dispatch received here to day from Shanghai says a very serious view is taken at Field Marshal Count von Waldersee's headquarters in Tien Tsin of the revolutionary movement. At Canton a false alarm, October 7, caused the Chinese officials there to protest against any occupation of Chinese territory. The Yang Tse viceroys, the dispatch says, openly affirm that they will oppose any advance of the Germans into Shang Tung province.

A Shanghai dispatch, dated October 11th, says the Chinese Customs Bank has remitted 300,000 taels to the Imperial Treasury and is preparing to send more.

An official contradiction has been published of the reports that an invasion of Shan Tung province is contemplated.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 12.—The Chinese minister here has left town. It is believed that he has gone to the Crimea to see the Czar.

Chinese Duplicity.

PARIS, October 12.—A dispatch received by the Havas agency, from Tien Tsin, says:

"The general opinion of those knowing Chinese ways is that the order for the punishment of the high officials contained in the edict of October 1st will not be executed. The edict is not sincere.

"It is affirmed that Li Hung Chang has been ordered to reject all the demands for territorial compensation and other war indemnities.

"The troops at Pekin are suffering from typhoid fever and dysentery."

A British Expedition.

HONG KONG, October 12.—Admiral Ho is pursuing the rebels in a northeasterly direction from San Chun.

A British expedition consisting of the Twenty-second Bombay infantry, with artillery, is going to the Kowloon Hinterland, though the district is reported quiet.

Returns to Manila.

WASHINGTON, October 12.—Admiral Remey to day cabled the Navy Department of his departure from Chinese waters. He goes on his flagship, the Brooklyn, from Taku to Che Foo, thence to Nagasaki, Japan. Although his dispatch does not announce his movements from that point, it is the understanding at the Navy Department that he will next go to Cavite. This move will take the headquarters of the Asiatic station back to Manila, leaving the squadron in Chinese waters without an admiral in command, unless Admiral Remey should determine to have Admiral Kempff return there. For the present, however, there is no such determination.

Admiral Remey's dispatch is as follows: "Marines embarked on Brooklyn, Zafiro, and transport Indiana. Zafiro carries the cavalry, Brooklyn goes to Che Foo and Nagasaki. Indiana sails shortly. Some sick men sent to hospital at Yokohama. Others be removed soon as possible and hospital at Tien Tsin closed. New Orleans remains at Taku. Monacacy winters in Pei Ho river."

A Serious Situation.

LONDON, October 13.—The Times has the following from Hong Kong, dated yesterday:

"The situation in the Wei Chau prefecture is serious. In six districts the cities are in the hands of rebels. If an outbreak should occur in Canton, its suppression would be difficult."

Dr. Morrison, wiring to the Times from Pekin, under date of October 11th, says:

"The Chinese officials declare that stringent orders have been sent to provincial officials not to oppose the advance of the allied column."

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND

Says He Has Not Changed His Views on the Financial Question.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—A special to the Tribune from Louisville, Ky., says:

Ex-President Grover Cleveland has replied to a letter written by Mr. John S. Green, of this city, inquiring if the former President had changed his views on the financial question as expressed in his letter to Chicago business men on April 13th, 1895. Mr. Cleveland in his letter, which is dated Buzzard's Bay, October 7th, 1900, replies as follows:

"I have received your letter enclosing copy of my letter written more than five years ago to the business men of Chicago. I had not seen it in a long time, but it seems to me I could not state the case better at this time if I should try. I have not changed my opinion as then expressed in the least."

Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said to-day in reference to the letter of former President Cleveland, made public in Louisville, Ky.:

"Everybody had known for five years what Mr. Cleveland's views were on the money question, and we did not expect any change. His letter, therefore, does not seem to have any significance. It should be remembered in that connection that he has also expressed his warm condemnation of President McKinley's expansion policies."

WM. J. BRYAN'S OHIO CAMPAIGN.

An Enthusiastic Reception Accorded the Democratic Standard Bearer.

BIG CROWD AT SPRINGFIELD.

A Question About Race Discrimination in North Carolina Answered—A Touch of Militarism—Speeches at Findley and Elsewhere.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KENTON, OHIO, October 12.—It had not been the intention of the Ohio State Democratic committee that Mr. Bryan should begin the speech-making feature of his Ohio tour until the town of Bowling Green should be reached. This plan was, however, interfered with to a slight extent by the demands of a number of people who gathered about Mr. Bryan's car in the Toledo depot before the train pulled out from that point.

The next speech was made at Bowling Green, twenty miles out, and the third at Findlay, the center of the Ohio gas belt. Mr. Bryan announced during the breakfast hour that Mrs. Bryan would join him on the 27th instant in New York and remain with him thereafter until the close of the campaign. He said that after leaving New York and making the tour of West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, he would again return to the Empire State and probably make several speeches.

At Bowling Green, Mr. Bryan especially urged the importance of electing a Democratic House of Representatives.

A fine audience greeted Mr. Bryan upon his arrival at Findlay at 8:30 and he made a speech of five minutes at that place. He said in part: "Possibly it is not necessary to speak long on the trust question, for people learn more by experience than they do by speeches and a speech can only point out the lessons of experience. It used to be that if a mill closed down under the Democratic administration, every Republican paper and editor pointed to the mill and to its smokeless chimneys as an evidence that Democratic policies were destroying the industries of the country. But now when a trust buys a plant and closes it down, no Republican says a word about it. You will find that the trust will close more mills than any policy that any other party ever stood for."

KENTON, October 12.—At Kenton there was a stop of an hour and the meeting was held in front of a hotel in the immediate vicinity of the depot. The crowd was large and attentive. Mr. Bryan said:

"You know my platform and you know whether you like it or not. If you like the platform you need not have any fear but what it will be carried out if I am elected. I believe that even the Republicans now will give me credit for meaning what I say. In fact, I believe the greatest argument that is now used against my election is that I am an honest man, and therefore dangerous. This argument cannot be brought against many Republicans whom I might mention."

At Portsmouth.

PORTSMOUTH, O., October 12.—Mr. Bryan concluded the first day of his Ohio campaign in this city to-night. He was met at the depot by a torchlight procession and escorted to a square in the center of the city, where he spoke from a platform in the open air. The meeting was by far the largest of the day, and it was thoroughly enthusiastic. The Republicans also held a torch-light procession in the city to-night, with speeches in a public hall by Senator Spooner and ex-Congressman W. D. Bynum. As a consequence the city was full of red fire and political enthusiasm. A majority of the meetings during the day were not so largely attended nor so demonstrative as those of the Indiana and Illinois tour of last week. Rain threatened during the greater part of the day.

When Mr. Bryan was introduced at Springfield some enthusiastic admirer in the crowd shouted: "Hurrah for the farmer president."

The exclamation attracted Mr. Bryan's attention. He said: "I don't want to be elected under false pretences. I am not a farmer; I am an agriculturist. You know the difference between them. A farmer is a man who makes his money on the farm and spends it in town, while an agriculturist is a man who makes his money in town and spends it on the farm."

About Race Discrimination.

At Greenfield, Mr. Bryan was interrupted by an elderly man in the crowd who asked a question about race discrimination in North Carolina and then partially disappeared behind other people standing near him. The inquiry seemed to stir Mr. Bryan considerably and he replied with some warmth, saying: "Don't hide. I want you to stand where I can see you when I answer your question. Now let me tell you that an educational qualification has been imposed upon Porto Rico by the Republican administration which disqualifies 88 per cent. of the colored men of voting age in that territory."

The gentleman retorted that he did not believe the statement, whereupon Mr. Bryan continued:

"Well, I can show you a bulletin issued by your own administration as recently as the 29th of last August in which it is stated that 83 per cent. of the colored population cannot read and write. And this educational requirement deprives that percentage of the people there of the right of franchise. Do you know what percentage is affected by the North Carolina law? I can tell you that it is a good deal smaller per cent. than that affected by the Porto Rican restriction. Don't you think you had better reprove your own administration for its acts in Porto Rico before you complain of North Carolina?"

A Touch of Militarism.

Mr. Bryan began his speech at Portsmouth at 8 o'clock and he had no sooner commenced than a bugle call was sounded on a house top across the street. There were other noisy demonstrations and for a time it looked as if there were to be unfriendly interruptions. Mr. Bryan caught the situation promptly, and said: "Perhaps this is simply a 'touch of militarism'". This turned the laugh of the crowd upon the bugler and he was heard no more for a time, though he sounded his horn at intervals during the evening.

McKINLEY AND THE TRUSTS.

Vigorous Denunciation of the Republican Candidate by Hon. Frank S. Monnett, of Ohio.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, October 12.—A large audience attended a meeting to night at the Columbus auditorium, addressed by Hon. Frank S. Monnett, former attorney general of Ohio. Mr. Monnett's speech was devoted wholly to trusts and contained the first public declaration of his intention to support Mr. Bryan. Mr. Monnett reviewed the prosecutions against various trusts, combinations and monoplies which he had undertaken while attorney general of the State, and then said:

"We nominated a President from Ohio, who promised the people in fair phrases that he would enforce the anti-trust laws of the United States, including the Sherman anti-trust act. How has he enforced it? Attorney General John W. Griggs, has under him seventy-six district attorneys scattered throughout the various States of the union, the duty of each and every one of which is to enforce this anti-trust act, and according to his official report, May 29, 1900, to Congress, out of thirteen suits instituted under this law, three have been begun under his administration. This is the magnificent record of the present national administration. The trust utterly failed in defeating the Sherman anti-trust act; they were completely routed by the judiciary in the final test in the Supreme Court, and they have now begun the dangerous policy of paralyzing the executive arm by means that are so palpable that he who runs may read, and none but the most skeptical can fail to be convinced."

In conclusion Mr. Monnett said:

"I believe that William McKinley and John Griggs, his attorney general, and his executive officers, have wilfully, purposely and knowingly paralyzed the executive arm of this government for the last four years and prevented the enforcement of the common law and the statute law, both criminally and civilly against these law violators. And the hour has now come, the only time we will have for the next four years, as voters, to legally and constitutionally smite them for their hypocrisy and to resent this violation of official duty.

"William J. Bryan may not accomplish all that we expect or all that we hope for in his behalf, but I believe him to be thoroughly honest, sincere and a determined man, and while I do not agree with him in all that he advocates, yet I am forced to take one side or the other on this great question, which for the masses is the paramount issue, and in the name of patriotism and for the sake of our republic, I propose to cast my vote for that fearless, upright champion of the people, William J. Bryan."

DEFAULTER SCHREIBER.

Another Discovery Made Which Increases His Stealings to $109,716.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Another discovery was made to-day at the Elizabethport bank, which increases the stealings of defaulter Schreiber to $109,716. Several months ago an envelope containing $3,000 in United States bonds was placed for safe keeping in the bank by a resident of Elizabeth. When he called at the bank today for the deposit it was found the envelope had been carefully slit open and the bonds extracted. Judge Gilhooly, the bank's attorney, said the institution was responsible and the loss would be made good.

The furniture and personal effects of Mrs. Hart, the woman upon whom young Schreiber is said to have lavished the money of the Elizabeth bank, were removed to day to a storage warehouse by order of the sheriff. Three large vans were required to remove all the contents of the luxuriously furnished apartments.

He was taken back to the Tombs and will be held until the police shall have made further investigation into the case.

CAUSE OF CHINESE TROUBLE.

Empress Dowager Seized Upon the Boxer Movement to Divert Popular Wrath to the Foreigners

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Times publishes to-day Dr. Morrison's mail accounts of the events that led up to the seige of Pekin. He says that the Boxers only became important after the German occupation of Kiao Chou. The Chinese were ascribing the disastrous drought and famine, with other troubles, to the judgment of heaven for the usurpation of the Empress Dowager. She seized upon the Boxer movement, acording to Dr. Morrison, as a means of diverting popular wrath from herself to the foreigners and appointed Yu Haien, founder of the Boxer sect, to be Governor of Shan Tung, in March, 1899. Thus, under imperial protection, the Boxers preached the doctrine that it was the foreigners not the Empress Dowager who aroused the wrath of the gods.

Extra foreign guards for the legation arrived. The Boxers became increasingly audacious, and things went from bad to worse until the legations were ordered to quit Pekin and Baron Von Kettler was killed. There is not a shadow of a doubt that his murder was deliberately planned by the authorities and executed by an officer resplendent in the uniform of the Imperial troops."
